Breakdown

(1)

On March 31, 2009, this lawyer examined and studied the registered documents and drawings for the embassy building, the ambassador's official residence and for the 1,431.77 square-meter land plots on which these buildings stand. These registration documents are kept at the Meguro Ward branch office of the Tokyo Legal Affairs Bureau, a unit of the Justice Ministry. These examination, research and investigation took three hours. The fee for the services amounts to 50,000 yen.

(2)

On the same day, this lawyer examined and studied the registered documents of real estate company Taiwa Ltd. at the branch office of the Tokyo Legal Affairs Bureau. In addition, this lawyer studied and investigated cases of land property transactions in the area surrounding the Embassy of the Republic of Kenya in Japan through the Internet, while conducting an online checkup of actual prices paid for the land properties in the area. These examination and research took another three hours with the fee for the services coming to 50,000 yen.

(3)

On top of these, this lawyer researched and analyzed, on the same day, the government-assessed prices for land properties that are located in a block close to the embassy building to obtain reference data for comparison. Under Japan's official land price assessment system, the Japanese government annually assesses prices of land plots at selected locations nationwide as of January 1 with an eye to announcing the prices as government-endorsed reference data. This lawyer spent another three hours for this research and analysis with the fee for the legal services amounting to 50,000 yen.

(4)

In the period from April 1 to April 6, this lawyer examined and analyzed two documents for contracts which your embassy had concluded with Taiwa Ltd. to hire the relevant properties for the embassy's operations. This examination and analysis took four hours with the fee for these services standing at 60,000 yen.

(5)

The report dated April 7, 2009, which this lawyer submitted to the embassy, took 15 hours to compile and translate with the fee for these services amounting to 200,000 yen.

(6)

Procedures related to the application of a certificate of the Japan Federation of Bar Associations to attest to this lawyer's membership at the federation and to its receipt took one hour with the fee coming to 20,000 yen.

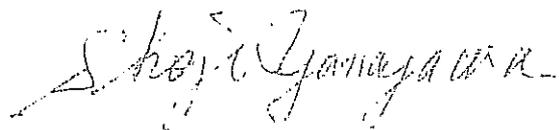

(7)

The fee for a total of five meetings and discussions, which were held in a total of five occasions at embassy, the restaurant Jonathan's as well as at my law firm during the period from late March to May 2009, amounts to 50,000 yen. These meetings took three hours in total.

(8)

Separately, this lawyer provided legal advices related to the planned property transaction to embassy side over phone in multiple occasions, while holding relevant consultations. The provision of these advices and consultations took 25 minutes with the fee for these services coming to 20,000 yen.
